Byrns Demands Townsend Be Punished

COURT ACTION INDICATED BY SPEAKER

Leader Would Prefer Not to Have House Try Pension Chief

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—Speaker Byrns and Representative Bankhead, the Democratic leader, told newsmen today that definite action must be taken against Dr. F. E. Townsend for his defiance of a house investigating committee.

At a joint press conference at which they said the house was "not going to be flouted" both agreed the old age pension leader's walkout on the committee and subsequent defiant statements were ample basis for a contempt action.

"The action defied the powers of congress to make investigations," Bankhead said, "and some action, of course, must be taken."

Byrns said if the "house is not willing to assert its authority it would destroy all future congressional investigations."

Speaking personally, the speaker said he believed the case should be turned over to the federal court instead of being tried in the house.

"With a contempt trial before 435 members there is no telling how long it might last," Byrns said, referring to the concerted drive for early adjournment.

DARES FLY THICK IN TOWNSEND ROW

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—The hostile camps of Dr. F. E. Townsend and a house investigating committee "dared" each other today to engage in verbal combat at close quarters.

James R. Sullivan committee counsel, issued a pronouncement calling Townsend a "rich man," declaring that his Townsend Weekly advertisement "Communist doctrine" and saying:

"I dare you and challenge Dr. Townsend to appear and offer himself as a witness."

The old age pension leader, who walked out on the committee last week and went to live in a Baltimore hotel, issued a statement "flatly denying" an assertion by Committee Chairman Bell that he left the committee room because he knew evidence soon to be produced would be "damaging and devastating."

Will They Dare?

Saying that he departed because the investigation was an unfair "inquisition," Townsend added:

"This investigation has been in progress for many weeks, all of which time Townsend leaders have (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

What's Merriam's Hobby?

It's Pushing People! Journal Reporter Discovers in Merry Newport Chase

By BOB GUILD

"What is your hobby, Governor Merriam?" the reporter asked.

The governor looked about the crowded porch of the Newport Harbor Yacht club Saturday afternoon. His glance fell on Assistant Director of Public Works Justus Cramer, perched nonchalantly on the rail over the bay. The governor held himself in heroically.

"Well," he said, "I never see a man sitting on a rail like that but what I want to push him off!"

It was hard enough to get a "Meet Your Neighbor" from Governor Merriam anyway.

In the first place, the governor switched boats on the reporter. He started out on George A. Rogers' Merry, with a lot of state officials, heading the yacht flotilla toward the outer harbor, where a gallant galaxy of sail and power craft awaited a signal from Washington to start the harbor celebration.

The reporter was on a press boat, which never did get close enough to allow him to ask California's head man any questions. Then Emil Pozzo, representing Mayor Frank Shaw of Los Angeles, held up the parade. He was on the press boat, too, and wanted on the governor's boat.

"I've got to ask him a couple of questions for the mayor," Mr. Pozzo cried.

So they stopped the parade, and transferred Mr. Pozzo to the Merry, where he found to his disgust that the governor had silently traded craft somewhere along the line, and now was riding on the Blue Goose.

All was confusion, as a hundred craft tried to find the harbor entrance at once. Floating bands played, pirate ladies waved swords and lifted voices in a yo-ho. Several bottles of rum were waved. Then the reporter saw Governor Merriam's (Please Turn to Page 3, Col. 4)

NEWPORT BAY PARTY ENDS

Yachts Dip Sails and Kayaks Cavort at Dedication

Flitting, white-winged sailboats, racing through the waters of Newport Harbor, hundreds of small craft carrying sightseers, and a huge kayak carnival, staged before a huge crowd brought to an end the official dedication ceremonies marking completion of the $2,000,000 harbor development at Newport-Balboa yesterday.

Late in the afternoon dozens of beautiful yachts left their anchorages, cruised through deepened channels and into the open sea, where sails were raised and the trip for home ports started.

Yachtsmen from Los Angeles, San Diego, Santa Barbara and other ports, who took part in the successful two-day event, were loud in their praise of the dedication rites as they left Orange county's new harbor for their homes.

Races Featured

Races between many classes of sail and motor boats featured the closing day's festivities, with members of the Fullerton Kayak club staging their carnival on the Corona Del Mar side of the bay.

Nudist Colony for Monte Carlo Loses

MONTE CARLO, May 25. (AP)—The new Liberal party, which wanted to make Monte Carlo a European Reno with a nudist colony as an added attraction, lost to the conservatives in the municipal election yesterday.

The conservative ticket for the city council, headed by Mayor Louis Aureglia, won 540 of the 728 votes cast.

Opponents said the new liberals were defeated because of their plans to charge the gambling casino for lighting Monte Carlo's streets.

Burning Tunnel Delays S. P. Trains

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25. (AP)—Burning of a 345-foot tunnel 23 miles south of Dunsmuir caused a five-hour delay in Southern Pacific passenger trains between Portland and here today.

Anaheim Man Snags Boy, 12, in 'Prowler Trap'

W. N. Polsten of Anaheim went fishing last night and caught a 12-year-old boy.

"I was fishing for prowlers," he told police. "They'd been bothering me for about four nights."

So the ingenious householder rigged up a complicated maze of wires outside his house. Attached to the wires were fishhooks, of the yellowtail size, so arranged that when a release wire was stepped on the hook would be catapulted into the prowler's leg.

Mr. Polsten fixed up his fishing equipment and went to bed. Some time later he heard a yell of anguish, and ran to the front door to discover his quarry with a fishhook firmly embedded in his right leg. The hook had broken off in the limb, and was removed by a physician.

The boy was released when Mr. Polsten decided not to sign any complaint against him because of his youth.

Rains Turn Dust Bowl Silt to Mud

GUYMON, Okla., May 25. (AP)—Drenching rains which fell during the week-end in the arid, silt-covered regions of Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas brought at least a temporary end to "black blizzards" in a large part of the nation's dust bowl, farm officials believed today.

While the Oklahoma panhandle's dust was turned into mud by the hardest rains in three years, torrential downpours in Texas sent the Colorado river near Columbus out of its banks and soaking rains in widespread sections of Kansas benefited wheat crops.

The Texas panhandle received moisture which brought cheer to dust-harrassed farmers.

Titterton Slayer Called Insane

NEW YORK, May 25. (AP)—A state psychiatrist called by the defense today at the trial of John Florence, 34-year-old upholsterer's helper for the slaying of Mrs. Nancy Titterton, swore Florence was regarded as potentially insane three years before the fiction writer was attacked and strangled.

Dr. James McCartney, psychiatrist at Elmira reformatory, in 1933, testified he examined Florence a month before he was committed for grand larceny in 1933 and found him "narcissistic, suffering from an oedipus complex and definitely schizoid."

$1,250,000 IN GOLD SEIZED

Swiss Firm Loses In Court Fight With U. S. Treasury

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—A Swiss corporation lost today in the supreme court in its effort to keep the United States from seizing its gold in this country with a face value of $1,250,000.

The tribunal refused to review a decision by the second circuit court of appeals denying an injunction against turning the money over to a New York federal reserve bank as directed by the treasury.

In its petition, the corporation—Uebersee Finanz-Korporation Aktien-Gesellschaft—contended the anti-gold hoarding legislation did not apply to a foreign concern which already had gold in the United States.

It was said the gold would have been worth $2,100,000 if exported to Switzerland.

The gold is now in the possession of the New York firm of Lazard, Freres & Co., which received it March 2, 1935, under an agreement to store and return it on demand.

Britain Fights Italian Propaganda

LONDON, May 25. (AP)—In the wake of fresh outbreaks of disorders in Palestine, Foreign Minister Eden indicated in the house of commons today that steps are being taken to check the spread of Italian propaganda in both Palestine and India.

Eden told the legislators representations had been made in Rome against anti-British broadcasts by Italian radio stations.

Oliver Locker-Lampson, Conservative, said propaganda was broadcast weekly from Italian stations in the local language of inhabitants of India and Palestine.

Editor in Defense Of Crime News

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., May 25. (AP)—William B. Craig, managing editor of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, told the Pennsylvania press conference today that newspapers unquestionably should publish crime news because such social evils "cannot be corrected by ignoring them."

Craig said his personal answer to queries on "this crime news question" is that "The Bible publishes crime."

"The book of books starts right out with the temptation and evil in the Garden of Eden," he said.

HALT ARIZONA SUIT AGAINST CALIFORNIA

Supreme Court Blocks Fight Over Colorado River Water

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—Arizona's petition for permission to sue California and five other states for a final determination of water rights on the Colorado river was denied today by the supreme court.

The unanimous decision, delivered by Justice Stone, concluded: "The petition to file the proposed bill of complaint is denied."

We leave undecided the question whether an equitable division of the unappropriated water of the river can be decreed in a suit in which the United States and the interested states are parties.

May 'Assert Rights'

"Arizona will be free to assert such rights as she may have acquired, whether under the Boulder canyon project act and California's undertaking to restrict her own use of the water or otherwise, and to challenge, in any appropriate judicial proceeding, any act of the secretary of the interior or others, either states or individuals, injurious to it and in excess of their lawful authority."

Counsel for California, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico had urged denial of the petition on the ground Arizona lacked a legal cause for action.

They said there was "nothing more than a potential controversy" and that Arizona had failed to make the United States a party to the litigation.

Asked Court Ruling

Arizona replied that it was facing an "irretrievable loss" because of huge California appropriations from the river. It asked the court to determine Arizona's "equitable share."

It was contended the federal government should be brought into the case because it controlled Boulder dam on the Colorado river and determined the apportionment of water from the structure.

957 Americans Win Sweeps Tickets

COAL RULERS STILL SAFE

McCarll, Rules Ousting Of Guffey Act Leaves Commission Intact

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—Federal Comptroller J. R. McCarll ruled today in effect that the national bituminous coal commission was not extinguished by the supreme court decision invalidating the Guffey coal control act.

The comptroller-general said present appropriations to the commission for salaries and other expenses would still be available for such purposes.

He based his ruling on the majority opinion of the court which stated that constitutionality of provisions in the act, which could stand independent of the labor and price-fixing sections, could be determined in future actions.

This, McCarll ruled, meant the commission still has the power to carry out certain studies provided for by the act and to appear before the interstate commerce commission in cases involving the bituminous coal industry.

Chairman Charles F. Hosford, jr., said that study would be required to determine how many of these would be retained.

Day Goes on Trial For Loeb Slaying

JOLIET, Ill., May 25. (AP)—The state demands the death penalty today as James Day, 23, diminutive Stateville penitentiary inmate, went to trial for the slaying of his college-trained fellow convict, Richard Loeb.

First Assistant State's Attorney Walter O. Herschbach sought to qualify jurors without prejudice against capital punishment.

Museum Bids for Ancient Bones

The Bowers Memorial museum will make an effort to secure the 400,000-year-old remains of prehistoric animals recently uncovered on the Imperial project near La Habra, it was learned today.

The discoveries include bones of a large horse, 400,000 years old, bones of a mastodon and giant sloth, 250,000 years old, and of buffalo 15,000 to 20,000 years old.

Mrs. F. E. Coulter, curator of the museum, said today the announcement of the discovery had interested her in the excavation and had given her a desire to see the relics as well as to secure them for the Santa Ana museum. She expressed the opinion that wherever the bones are taken, they should be kept in a single display so they will present a complete picture and thus be of greater educational value.

U.S. GOVERNMENT MAY HELP TO UPROOT NATIONAL BLACK LEGION

RIDERS CLAIM VICTIM KNEW 'TOO MUCH'

Confess 'Ritual Death' Because Poole Had Cult's Secrets

DETROIT, May 25. (AP)—Murder and kidnapping warrants were asked by Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea today for 13 members of the Black Legion held here in the slaying of Charles A. Poole, and for 12 John Does who may have attended the meeting at which Poole's "execution" was planned.

DETROIT, May 25. (AP)—The federal government will be asked to aid in a fight to "uproot and destroy" the Black Legion, Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea said today.

"The Black Legion is an outlaw organization, and we are going to ask the government to help us drive it out of existence," he said.

"Knew Too Much" The prosecutor also announced that two of the 13 members of the vigilante band held here in the death of Charles A. Poole had admitted that the young WPA worker "was put to death because he knew too much."

The two confessed, McCrea said, that their earlier statements that Poole was slain because he mistreated his wife were false and that the real reason for the "ritual execution" was that Poole, a non-member, had come into possession of secrets of the black-robed society.

Have 135,000 Armed Men The discovery of Poole's bullet-pierced body on a little-traveled township road May 13 set in motion investigations which disclosed the existence of a widespread national organization with a reported membership of 135,000 armed men in Michigan alone.

Thirteen men, including seven the police name as being present when Poole was shot to death as he knelt before his abductors, were under arrest here. Another, said by state police to be a "brigadier general" in the Michigan Black Legion, was held in Jackson for investigation into a reported flogging death, and Detroit police were on the trail of a mysterious "state commander" who apparently had fled over the week-end as one revelation into the hooded order followed another. National officials were being sought in other states.

Much of the information came from flogging victims who responded to a public appeal by McCrea after the prosecutor had promised them protection, he said, and details of the night-riding organization were obtained from literature seized in several raids.

At least three investigations now are being conducted into the Black Legion.

MORE ABOUT TOWNSEND

been constantly waiting for the startling disclosures which Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Bell have been promising.

From the Townsend camp came hints that the Bell committee would not have the "courage" to hail Dr. Townsend before the bar of the house for trial on a contempt citation.

The committee is sharply divided on the question, with some members declaring he should be turned over to the courts instead. Sullivan's statement said:

Fear Townsend as Martyr "No doubt Townsend and his cohorts feel that his trial for contempt either before the bar of the house or by a court would be an adequate excuse for them to label him as a martyr."

"With that tag on Townsend, they no doubt plan to play upon emotions and sympathies of many people, not informed pertaining to the true facts, with the result that they would again contribute vast sums of money..."

Sheridan Downey, Townsend's counsel, addressed an open letter to Bell in which he requested "the privilege of presenting statistical data and economic arguments on the Townsend plan."

OPEN TRIAL ON THEFT CHARGE

George F. Dukes, of Long Beach and San Diego, went on trial in superior court today on one charge of burglary and one of petty theft, growing out of an offense allegedly committed on April 20 at the home of Guy H. Kemp, service station proprietor, three miles west of Garden Grove.

Dukes is accused of having entered the Kemp home at 5:30 a. m. and of having attempted to steal a portable typewriter. He is being defended by E. L. Johnson of Anaheim. Deputy District Attorney James E. Walker is presenting the state's case.

The jury chosen this morning included Marjorie Joplin, Jennie E. Johnson, A. N. Stanley, Charles E. Lewis, Georgia B. Swan, W. H. Bentley, Charles Harvey, C. A. Westgate, S. J. Scally, W. D. Backer, Ethel Standing and Frances R. Nelson.

"Are you willing to take an order and go to your death, if necessary to carry it out?"

C. OF C. ASKS SADDLEBACK HIGHWAY

The Santa Ana chamber of commerce today launched a movement for construction of a scenic highway to the top of Saddleback mountain. There are several roads to the summit now, but they are not open to the public except upon application.

On a motion made by James Harding, the board of directors authorized a request to the county board of supervisors for investigation of the possibility of building such a road, in cooperation with the forest service. It is expected this request will be placed before the supervisors tomorrow.

A highway for the public to the summit of Saddleback would provide perhaps the most beautiful scenic drive in Orange county, it was explained at today's meeting of the chamber directors.

Several roads now lead to the summit, one from Glen Ivy, one from Ortega highway, one from the north fork of Trabuco canyon and one from Black Star canyon, said Mr. Harding. He said even a one-way road to the top, open to the public, would be of great advantage.

Ask Probate of L. J. Ellis Will

Lee Ellis, Bellflower, petitioned today in superior court to admit the will of his late father, Luther J. Ellis, who died in Fullerton May 18, to probate.

The estate, valued at "more than $10,000" is to be divided equally between the five Ellis children. Mrs. Ellis was given a property settlement some years ago.

The heirs are Ray Ellis, Helen Ellis Wolfe, Ella Louise Ellis and Lois Ellis, of Fullerton, and Lee Ellis, who is named as executor, and who will hold one-fifth of the estate in trust for the youngest daughter, Lois.

MORE ABOUT RELIEF

sial subjects be considered, other than relief.

Avoid Controversy "Should it become evident from your deliberations that any of these items, except relief, are to become the subject of controversy I suggest they be, by common consent, laid aside until the regular session of the legislature next January," he said.

The governor explained the shortage of funds as being due primarily to the withdrawal of federal relief aid last January. It then became necessary, he said, for the state to exceed the estimated $2,000,000 a month which had been provided in the $24,000,000 appropriation of 1935.

The adjustments which he submitted for consideration, he said, (drawing upon the $24,000,000 provided for next year) will carry through the remainder of this fiscal year and "it is hoped the balance of the biennial period."

The governor was generously applauded as he entered the chamber and greeted the lawmakers.

Relief Back to Counties The governor revealed it is planned to turn administration of relief over to the counties not later than July 1.

"Many of the board of supervisors, the relief commission and the administration have practically agreed" he said, "upon such a procedure by which the counties will administer all the relief program except a limited number of investigators and auditors. It is proposed the state will provide the funds and make payments monthly or as agreed upon to the individuals on relief or to the counties on the basis of the case load carried in each county."

He stressed that no additional taxation is proposed in the call and said, "it is evident returns under existing tax schedules are sufficient to meet the ordinary and regular expenses of the state."

Oil Companies Top County's Wealth List, Figures Show

Oil companies own more of the assessed wealth of Orange county than any other industry, proportionately, figures released today by County Assessor James Sleeper show.

Oil companies pay approximately 22 per cent of the taxes. The total assessed value of oil property in 1935 is $43,084,235.

The total assessed valuation of all property in the county last year was $191,962,830; the largest figure in the county's history, due largely to a 35 per cent increase made by the state board of equalization in establishing a universal 50 per cent ratio of assessment to actual value of property.

More than a fifth of the county's wealth thus shown is represented by mineral rights assessed at $29,532,490, and personal property of oil companies, assessed at $14,084,235.

The personal property assessment covers such equipment as derricks, tanks and power plants. Real estate and improvements also are included in the property assessment.

HARBOR BACKED BY CHAMBER

A meeting of chamber of commerce secretaries with Newport harbor chamber officials to discuss what can be done to support the coast group in promoting Newport harbor probably will be held in the near future.

Plans for such a session came to light today when the board of directors of the Santa Ana chamber pledged their support and cooperation to the Newport harbor chamber in its work of developing the harbor section.

It was explained that Newport Beach has laid the foundation and showed the way toward development of this region as a high-class residential and recreation area. Such development is one of the main goals of the Santa Ana chamber, under the leadership of Ray Goodcell, chairman of the promotion publicity committee.

F. J. Kennedy, president of the chamber, declared today that the harbor celebration was the impressive event of its kind staged in Orange county.

MUSIC DIRECTOR SPEAKS HERE

Louis Curtis, Los Angeles school system music director, will be the principal speaker Wednesday evening at a final dinner meeting of the school year for the Orange County Public School association, at 6:30 o'clock in the Orange Woman's clubhouse.

Members of the elementary division will have music teachers of Orange county high schools as guests. Officers are to be elected during business session. Kate McCullough will direct pupils of the Orange County School of Fine Arts, Anaheim, in a musical program.

Mr. Curtis, composer of a number of operettas and director in the national music supervisor's conference, will include in his address a report of the recent national meeting of supervisor's conference in New York. Dinner reservations are to be made with Ray Adkinson before Wednesday evening, Stanley Kurtz announced.

Grapefruit Case Victory to State

Withers Brothers, Placentia and Fullerton fruit packing firm, today voluntarily sent 134 boxes of grapefruit, which had been the object of condemnation proceedings by the district attorney's office, to a Los Angeles processing plant for reduction to by-products.

Suit was started by Deputy District Attorney Harold McCabe last week against the citrus fruit for condemnation of the fruit, after state inspectors had claimed that it was under state specifications for sugar content.

An order against the fruit was filed in Wilmington to prevent its being shipped, and the superior court proceedings were launched here. The suit will be dropped, Mr. McCabe said.

Fight Philippine Walkout Threat

MANILA, P. I., May 25. (AP)—Extensive precautions to avert a threatened general strike throughout the Philippines were taken today by the commonwealth department of labor.

All field agents of the department and public defenders throughout the provinces were ordered to do everything possible to prevent any walkouts. Special precautions were taken in Manila where it was reported the strike would be touched off Wednesday.

One reliable source, however, expressed the belief workers would not walk out until after the national assembly meets June 1.

Plan Japan to U. S. Dirigible Service

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25. (AP)—A contemplated Japanese-American dirigible service was reported today by the San Francisco Chronicle.

The paper said a Japanese concern, the Eastern Hemisphere Airways Company, plans to purchase a German dirigible to inaugurate five-day transpacific service between Tokyo and Vancouver, B. C.

Baron Sakatani, president of the Imperial Japanese Aviation Society, was named as one of the backers of the $1,500,000 company.

Finance Committee Seeks Revenue

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—The senate finance committee wrestled inconclusively today with the problem of bringing the yield of its tax bill in line with revenue requests of President Roosevelt.

Chairman Pat Harrison of Mississippi told reporters after a committee session behind closed doors: "It would seem we are short on what we have done and we need some revenue. We are trying to get a meeting of minds on that, so that when we get a bill out it will at least raise the money."

Edward Flies to View Queen Mary

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., May 25. (AP)—King Edward flew from Windsor today—the second time he has taken to the air since becoming sovereign—to head Britain's royal family in a final inspection of the giant liner Queen Mary.

The monarch was in the air 31 minutes, landed at the east Leigh airdrome five miles away and drove to the dock to meet Queen Mary and other members of the family who came from London by train.

It was the first flight for Edward—first English monarch ever to ride in a plane—since he traveled by air from Sandringham to London Jan. 21 to assume the rule just after the death of King George.

THORESON MAY BE CANDIDATE

Harold P. Thoreson, who for two and one-half years has been director of the State Relief administration in San Bernardino county, probably will be a candidate for congress in this district. Mr. Thoreson admitted as much in a statement to newspapers, telling about his resignation from the SR.

He said he intends to enter private business and "intimated that he probably would be a candidate for congress from the nineteenth congressional district comprising San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties," the statement said.

In a letter to Charles I. Schottland, state SRA administrator, Mr. Thoreson said he thought he was entitled to a minimum vacation right, since he has had only six days vacation during his term of service.

Meet Your Neighbor
Blue Goose leading the flotilla into the $2,000,000 harbor.

Wins by 100 Yards
He sped post-haste back to the yacht club, winning over the parade by a good 100 yards, only to find that several thousand others had the same idea, to stand on the yacht club porch and watch the yacht go by. He squeezed into a spot between two movie beauties, two newsreel cameramen and several hundred plain citizens, such as county supervisors and mayors.

The Blue Goose approached, with Mr. Pozzo on the Memory just in the rear. Just then somebody started shooting a miniature cannon, and the reporter jumped toward the dining room with his party. Mr. Pozzo was just behind him. The reporter passed Mr. Pozzo with a leap and caught his excellency's coat.

"Mr. Governor," he cried. "You can ask me any questions you want to," the governor said, "but I can't say whether I'll answer them or not."

"It's just a 'Meet Your Neighbor,'" the reporter said. "We ask everybody the same questions."

"Yes. How do you do?" the governor said.

"How can Orange county be improved," Governor Merriam?

"Well," said the governor, "I've lived in Southern California for 27 years, and watched Newport Harbor grow from mud flats to this beautiful harbor, a tribute to the spirit and energy of Orange county's citizens, and."

Mr. Pozzo wormed through the crowd.

"Governor," he said, "Mayor Shaw wanted me to ask you two questions."

"I am meeting my neighbor," the governor said.

"Orange county can be improved the same way it always has been improved," he said.

Pozzo Persists
"The mayor had to go to New York and wanted me to ask you two questions," Mr. Pozzo persisted.

"What one thing does Santa Ana need the most?" the reporter desperately queried.

"I really don't know," the governor said. "Santa Ana can be improved the same way Orange county can be improved. As for Mayor Shaw's questions, Mr. Pozzo, I answered those in a letter this morning."

"What about the state prison for Orange county and the Orange county fish preserve bill, Governor?" the reporter asked.

"It sure is a nice day, isn't it?" the governor replied.

"What is the greatest problem facing us, Mr. Governor?"

"Relief Must Be Solved"
Governor Merriam turned serious for a moment. "Relief," he said. "It must be solved, and it must be solved permanently. We must leave panaceas and patent medicines behind, lest the relief problem become chronic. We must do everything in our power to provide a permanent solution for the problem. We must all work together towards that end. If we solve unemployment we will solve most of our other problems."

"About your hobby, Governor?"

"Well," he said, and his eye fell on Justus Craemer. Mr. Craemer hastily got off his porch rail.

"Time to go," said the governor.

The governor turned away and started down the gangplank toward the Memory's tender. The fellow with the cannon started shooting again. The reporter ducked behind Mr. Pozzo.

"Well," Mr. Pozzo said, "I have to ask somebody those questions, so I guess I'll ask you."

He took the reporter's arm and drew him away. The governor boarded the Memory and the man with the cannon ceased a ring. Everybody went to lunch. Port Harbor was officially opened.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

WE'VE HEARD that Newport harbor celebration is over. After writing stories about the affair for weeks, and planning to attend for longer than that, we spent the week-end on a bounding feather bed, instead of the tossing deck of a press boat.

However, Ancient Mariner Bob Guild went. His tangled impressions of the opening follow:

Dear Brick: By Sunday everyone had a headache and the Newport Harbor Birthday party was over. So if you think I'm going to tell you anything about what happened yesterday your think is more or less in the same condition the rest of you was over last week.

Saturday was some shakes of a day, however. The Big Event of the day was the yacht parade, and it was a miracle anybody ever saw it. Nine arm airplanes stole the thunder. Boy—those fellows can fly. And did. The Gov. and his bathing beauties were a flash in the pan as all necks craned toward the zooming, zipping squadron.

Saw Mayor Harry Williamson walking around with a gold key, presumably to the Newport confers, looking for someone to give it to. Held out my hand. Everybody had a ribbon on his lapel inviting the public to "Ask Me." Never did find out what the question was supposed to be, but the answer all day long seemed to be "Sure, this one's free."

At the yacht club Tom Talbert of Huntington Beach, ex-supervisor, George Jeffries and Leon Heseman of the N. H. Y. C. and Pasadena wondered who started things down the harbor way.

A. B. Rousselet put a period to the sentence, and about the time we were going to start writing the names of the original harbor-boaters on our cuff somebody yelled "lunch!" Long tables filled the clubhouse and a circus tent provided buffet luncheon for 400.

Commodore Albert Soiland held Frank Merriam's arm, and Director of Public Works Lee Kelly, addressing no one in particular and everyone in general, said that "California was proud of Newport Harbor this day." He introduced his excellency as the "governor of all the peoples of this state." The Gov. had to fight his way through three ranks of bare-legged beauties to speak his piece.

Joe A. Beck was the busiest man in three counties, with Secretary Heseman running him a close second. City Engineer Pat Patterson had a boat and took 50 people outside the breakwater to see the parade.

My, but things were confused! "If any of the newspaper boys get parking tickets you collect them and bring them to me!" Police Commissioner Lloyd Claire said. Irvin George Gordon, the other half of the police commissioning, had a bitter argument with a conscientious Boy Scout about whether the Gordon Ford could be parked in the red. George overpowered him with a peck at his goggled badge.

Emile Pozzo, Mayor Shaw's right hand man from Los Angeles, stopped the parade looking for the governor, and pretty near stopped another parade by halting in the entrance to the club's bar room to talk to friends.

All the girls left their sailors when the nine arm flyers entered the club.

City Councilman Joe E. Smith of Santa Ana had the best seat in the place, and next best went to Justus Craemer, who didn't really have a seat at all, but had more of a perch, on the porch rail.

The parade was supposed to go down the Lido coast line and then back to the clubhouse, but with the press boat turned off to the club most of the parade followed. Nobody cared. They took a band all the way out to sea in a ferry-boat. Nobody could hear it.

Biggest disappointment of the day was Phyllis Bertino of Venice, who provided many early thrills with her sea-going mermaid costume, and then crossed everybody up by putting her clothes on before she came down to the club.

PLAN BARBECUE AT PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA.—More than 400 residents of this district are expected to attend a community barbecue and play-day scheduled for tomorrow afternoon and evening at the Bradford school grounds here.

An afternoon of sports, directed by Clarence E. Bishop, high school athletic head, will start at 4:30 p. m. on the school grounds, with games for children and parents. At 6:30 p. m. a barbecue will be served under direction of John Wagner.

The affair is sponsored by the Pioneer Men's brotherhood, a school organization, with Dean Hasson general chairman of arrangements.

was the parade of yachts, starting from outside the two huge jetties and led by the Memory, carrying Gov. Frank Merriam. Thousands of spectators lined the harbor's banks as the long line of visiting craft paraded between the breakwaters and over a course to Lido Isle and the Newport Harbor Yacht club.

Impressive opening rites, at which Governor Merriam and other state and county officials took part were followed by yacht club dinners, many private parties and night fireworks and other entertainment in the bay area.

The largest attendance of visiting boats ever registered in the harbor was reported by Harbor Master Thomas Bouche, who reported that no accidents marred the two-day fete. Although a special fireboat was on hand during the event, and preparations had been made to handle any type of marine accident, no damage was suffered, it was reported.

Leaders in preparations for the celebration were Commodore Soiland, general chairman; Captain Rogers, Mr. Rousselet and Harry Welch, general secretary.

Joe A. Beck was in charge of the committee. Other committee members included Shirley E. Meserve, William A. Bartholomae, Jr., Douglas McKinnon, J. M. Webster, Hermann H. Hillmer, Lew H. Wallace, Irving George Gordon, Harry H. Williamson, Mark J. Johnson, Donald B. Kirby, W. C. Jerome, Walter Spicer, S. A. Meyer, N. E. West, Paul A. Palmer, Capt. William J. HARBOR IS VIEWED FROM VOLUNTEER NEWPORT-BALBOA.—More than 100 spectators viewed the greater harbor district on Saturday from the Goodyear blimp. Volunteer, as it made 15-minute flights from the beach at Fifteenth street.

Commander Sewell was in charge of the flights, which were made at an elevation of about 1000 feet. The ship commenced its flights at 10 a. m. and continued throughout the day. Skipper Harvey Bartlett and his Sea Scouts from Huntington Beach were on guard at the landing during most of the day.

PAIR RESCUED FROM HARBOR'S WATERS

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Two rescues were made yesterday when sail boats tipped over in choppy waters caused by stiff breezes. Jack Martin, 12, second-place winner in the Snowbird class in the yacht inspection at the Newport Harbor Yacht club, was rescued by Douglas Mackinnon and J. M. Webster, when the boy's boat suddenly tipped over on all sides in the bay near the clubhouse. Save for a wetting, the boy was unharmed.

J. C. Gurley, skipper of the Almost, tipped over in front of the clubhouse and was rescued by a crew from the club boat.

The bay was filled with hundreds of visiting boats that brought yachting folk from all of the Southern California yacht clubs. Attending the dinner-dance from the coast guard cutter were Lieutenant and Mrs. J. J. Purcell, Lieutenant-Commander and Mrs. C. W. Thomas, Lieut. H. U. "Floating Peril"

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

CHAPTER 15
"I can't quite understand that," he admitted. "I must seem a pretty useless sort of person to him, living on a boat and writing articles for the Paris edition of an American newspaper. Got a Duke staying there, too, haven't you?"

"How did you know that?" she demanded.
"I see the French paper every morning. Gets the news quicker than any other. 'Amongst the guests staying at the Chateau de la Garoupe . . . Duc de Montset.'"

She made a little grimace.
"I suppose you think it odd, Hamer," she confessed, "that a republican country like this, one of the titles any more, I don't think I do. The old world that one hears about has fallen away. Perhaps it is as well. We are all more genuine men and women nowadays, but if you have been born in it, there is a sort of glamour that holds. Mother has nearly shaken herself free. Father—never."

"He would like to see you the Duchess de Montset?"
"Even if there were no chateau, no money, no estates, I believe that he would," she admitted. "I have tried my best to laugh him bygone. It is not dignified to be always accepting our position only at the hands of foreigners. I am a Frenchwoman, and I tell father that the only thing I can do is to be a Frenchwoman like the others. Being a Duchess would make me no different."

"There is no reality about it, Guy," she said. "When the sun shines like this, I feel that it is not madly good looking; his manners are no better than other young men's. The chateau is wonderful. There is already a scheme headed by the Mayor of the nearest town to take it over—with some sort of a recompense, I suppose—and turn it into a museum. There is no dignity in the position of being a French aristocrat in a republican country."

He put his arm round her.
"You are going to be an American citizen," he told her, "and you shall live in any country of the world you choose."

"Well, that's something," she sighed. "You will give up America for me then?"
"Pay visits there now and then, of course. I think you would like New York."

"I feel today that I should love any place with you, Hamer," she whispered. "When the sun shines like this, I feel that it must be France, but then I feel so affectionate, too, that it really doesn't matter. Give me one of your cigarettes and the lightest cocktail you can make, and I shall swim home, be punctual for lunch and see what I can do with Daddy."

"I come and wave to you in the afternoon, you are to come over in the dinghy."

"You are an adorable child," he said a little huskily, "and this time I don't care whether any one is looking or not. . . . Afterwards I'll fetch the emerald."

The cigarette was smoked, the cocktail duly approved. Then Hamer Wildburn produced a small wooden box, and in the center of it the pendant emerald. She gave a little gasp.

"Hamer," she exclaimed, "it is the pendant! It is the most emerald of the whole necklace!"

He nodded.
"So Monsieur Mermillon seemed to think when he pointed it out."

She looked at it for several moments intently.
"Why on earth doesn't Louise come and claim it?" she marvelled.
"I have asked myself that question more than once," Hamer Wildburn admitted gravely. "The only conclusion I can come to is that if she makes a fuss about it, she must disclose the fact of her visit here. She is in some sort of a plot, and she wants to keep behind the curtain. Well, when you give her this back, you can tell her that her secret doesn't exist, that she can no longer box Louise. It becomes necessary. I shall never mention the fact of her visit here—especially if she is a friend of yours."

She handed the box back.
"You don't think that I am going to swim with this in my hand," she protested. "Keep it, Hamer, or send it up by your mailer some time. Louise lives at the Chateau de Mougins, only about ten kilometers from here."

He thrust the box into the pocket of his trousers.
"I'll tell you what I shall do while you are frivolling with this crowd," he said. "I'm going over the boat with the plan and a hammer to tap the panels. I'm going to turn the old lady inside out to see what I've got that brings Cabinet Ministers here to beg, and a Princess to commit a crime and leave behind a twenty-thousand-pound emerald. Think of me as spending the afternoon in a sort of Aladdin's cave, Lucienne."

"I don't think you have any treasure aboard at all," she told him, pausing for a minute on the last step. "I tell you have a museum. There is no dignity in the position of being a French aristocrat in a republican country."

He put his arm round her.
"You are going to be an American citizen," he told her, "and you shall live in any country of the world you choose."

"Well, that's something," she sighed. "You will give up America for me then?"
"Pay visits there now and then, of course. I think you would like New York."

"I feel today that I should love any place with you, Hamer," she whispered. "When the sun shines like this, I feel that it must be France, but then I feel so affectionate, too, that it really doesn't matter. Give me one of your cigarettes and the lightest cocktail you can make, and I shall swim home, be punctual for lunch and see what I can do with Daddy."

"I come and wave to you in the afternoon, you are to come over in the dinghy."

"You are an adorable child," he said a little huskily, "and this time I don't care whether any one is looking or not. . . . Afterwards I'll fetch the emerald."

The cigarette was smoked, the cocktail duly approved. Then Hamer Wildburn produced a small wooden box, and in the center of it the pendant emerald. She gave enough of that. Explain to me quickly what is the meaning of a gunboat in the bay?"

The French statesman shrugged his shoulders slightly. His manner was evidently intended to convey the impression that the matter was of no particular moment.
"I interviewed the commander a few minutes after his arrival," he confessed. "He is here to take soundings. It is a part of the coast which the French navy has never considered seriously either for purposes of attack or defense, and he is here to draw up a report."

"But for us," the Baron exclaimed, "the affair is an impossibility! Can you not telephone to the admiral and request

Al Claves Leaving?

Saint Football Tilt

Rumor drifting down the Brea canyon has Jovial Al Claves, one-time Santa Ana, Don backfield luminary, on his way out as Citrus jaycee's four-sports coach. Developments have passed the rumor stage that Fullerton Junior college also is angling for a successor to Art Nunn in football. No other changes are looming among the Eastern conference's menorial maestros in 1936 grid plans.

Internationally-known Mickey Riley, whose graceful diving pleased a crowd of 300 in Andrews gymnasium here Saturday night, has passed up an opportunity for a world tour this year. The Los Angeles blond, whose real name is Galitzin, already has seen other parts of the globe, and a trip abroad does not interest him at present.

Mickey is leaving soon for Detroit.

Ray Cartwright, the ex-Saint who in 1931 ran an amazing 1:56.6 half-mile for a Southern California prep record in the Los Angeles Coliseum, must have derived new satisfaction from returns of the state track meet at Gridley Saturday.

Lopez, Placer High youth, established a new C. I. F. record of 1:57.1. It shaded the old mark by five-tenths of a second, but fell short of Cartwright's standard by five-tenths. You must go faster, Senior Lopez.

Kenneth Miller, guiding hand of the City league champion Elks, is having all kinds of luck—most of it bad.

Miller Dungan, B. P. O. E. first-baseman, is recuperating from a mild case of the measles. Darwin (Scottie) Scott, peewee third-baseman who shone with the Santa Ana Stars when the game was played in the north end of the Municipal bowl, has been shelved with ailing vertebrae, but may return any time now.

Joe Cornelius, relief pitcher, is vacationing at Lake Tahoe.

This gloom, however, is partially offset by Miller's report that Ellwood Lindley, Santa Barbara State athlete who pitched the Elks to the '35 championship, probably will rejoin the club before the second half late next month.

Louie Neva, writes Sports Ed Dave Melkijohn of the Pomona Press-Bulletin, was offered $2000 cash in the bank, plus a job paying $35 per week, and a brand new automobile, to pitch in the San Joaquin Valley league.

Huntington Beach's rugged Russian ignored the offer, continues Friend Melkijohn, because he was gyped once before at Visalia (in the northern league) and, out of a job, was rescued by Joe Rodgers. He now swears by Joe.

Pitcher Neva, 'tis said, has learned to discount such glowing offers from the northern "out-laws."

W. W. (Bill) Foote's football graduates railbirds whisper, are showing an alarming laxity of interest in their Thursday afternoon tussle with the 1936 eligibles at Poly field. Captain-elect Dwight Nott's charges, in direct contrast, are bubbling over with enthusiasm that may carry them to an upset, quelling their more experienced teammates whom Joe Crawford, student-coach, is having difficulty in keeping out for practice.

Japan Has Best Olympic Squad

TOKYO, May 25. (AP)—The largest and strongest track and field team Japan has ever sent to the Olympics will represent Nippon at Berlin, the Japan Track and Field Federation announced today.

Forty men and six women were named to represent the island empire after the final tryouts here Saturday and Sunday.

Eleven jumps and pole vaulters comprise the strongest section headed by Kenkichi Ishima, world record holder for the hop, step and jump; Shuhei Nishida, pole vault star of the 1932 games, and Suyevo Oye, who recently cleared 14 feet, 3 inches in the pole vault.

Because the tryouts were held in a downpour, the marks were unimpressive except for that of Kohei Murakoso who indicated he would challenge the world's best distance runners when he won the 5000 meters in 14 minutes, 41.4 seconds, and the 10,000 in 30:41.6.

Four marathoners, including two Koreans who are hopeful of at least placing, will depart for Berlin June 1. The remainder of the team will leave June 8. All will go by way of Siberia.

Cards Purchase Johnny Vergez

ST. LOUIS, May 25. (AP)—William DeWitt, assistant general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, announced today the outright purchase from the Philadelphia National league club of Johnny Vergez, infielder, for a cash amount not disclosed.

The league leaders, now carrying their full player list of 23, have to release someone before Vergez can report, DeWitt added.

Games Tonight
7:30 o'clock—M. E. South vs. Elks
9 o'clock—First National Bank vs. Joe's Grocers

Two southpaws—Armand Hanson and Jimmy Haynes—and two righthanders—Roy Stout and Gil Yorba—will grace the mound in Santa Ana City league softball games at the Municipal bowl tonight.

Left-handed Hanson, who has a contrary habit that goes down the middle and then breaks to either side of the plate, has turned Joe's grocery into a threat that may surprise Gene Hitt's unbeaten First National Bankers in the 9 o'clock argument. Stout, a righthander, will pitch for the money-lenders.

The doubleheader will be ushered in by the South Methodists, represented in the box by Southpaw Haynes and Kenneth Miller's champion Elks, who plan to use Gil Yorba and then Claude Gregory on the rubber. The B. P. O. E.'s are in a dangerous mood following their 6-3 defeat from the First Nationals, and probably will be hard to handle. The Methodists, however, usually contribute an upset when least expected.

Thursday's games pair the Knights of Columbus with the Carpenters, and the undefeated Commercial National Bankers with the Latter Day Saints (Mormons).

Young Leads Hitting; Tom Lacy Leaves

South paw-swinging Tommy Young, steady third baseman of Santa Ana's unbeaten Stars, was leading the National Night Ball league's hitting parade with a 429 average today.

Nine of George Lackaye's base-batters are above the 300 figure in official averages showing Santa Ana with the best team rating of .340, representing 66 hits in 194 times to the plate.

Huntington Beach's Southern California champions of 1935 finished the first of six rounds in fourth position behind the Stars, Anaheim and Westminster.

Tommy Lacy, utility shortstop and left-fielder, is slated to join Orange's club this week—perhaps for Orange's game at Anaheim tomorrow night. It is understood Lacy will roam left field for Lis-ton (Memphis) Hill's cellar aggregation.

... Olive plays at Westminster tonight instead of tomorrow.

Lazzeri Raps Out Six Homers in 3 Days; Cracks A. L. Record

By HUGH S. FULLERTON

It looks as if the Yankees will be hard to stop as long as Tony Lazzeri and Frank Crosetti continue to vie with Rookie Joe Di Maggio for the Italian vote of the New York fans and the honor of setting the pace of the revived "murderers row."

Tony, putting to rest all reports he isn't so spry as he used to be, staged a hitting spree in Philadelphia which produced six home runs and a new American league record for runs batted in during a single contest.

Another odd record or two fell before Tony's bat as he led the Yanks to a double victory over the Athletics Saturday and the most one-sided triumph of the season, 25 to 2, yesterday.

Yanks Lengthen Lead

In Sunday's game, Lazzeri drove in 11 runs, hitting three homers, two with bases full—and a triple. That surpassed by two the old American league record held by Jimmie Foxx and fell just one short of Jim Bottomley's National league standard. The six homers in three consecutive games was one more than the mark held by Babe Ruth and several others.

The record book fails to show any player hitting two homers with corners crammed in one game. To hold up their end of the argument, Crosetti smacked two homers and Di Maggio one. The Yanks hit 11 homers in two consecutive games for a new major league mark.

The w-k-end triumphs enabled the Yanks to increase their margin over Boston to 2½ games, the Red Sox absorbed a 4-to-12 drubbing from Washington yesterday.

Cards Hold Advantage

One-sided scores marked the entire program as the Cardinals and Giants kept pace in their duel for the National league lead. The only close game saw Chicago's White Sox turn back the St. Louis Browns 7 to 5 on Luke Sewell's homers in the ninth.

The Cards, a half game ahead in the pennant race, trimmed the Cubs 7 to 1. A crowd of 22,500, the largest at St. Louis this season, saw the effective combination of Roy Parmelee's five-hit flinging and a 17-hit attack that drove Curt Davis to cover in his first start for Chicago.

The Cincinnati Reds went into a three-way tie with Chicago and Pittsburgh for third place in the standing by trouncing the Pirates 12 to 1 behind Al Hollingsworth's five-hit flinging. The Dodgers made 15 hits in support of W. Mungo and trounced the Bees 15 to 2.

Lloyd Brown of Cleveland turned in the day's outstanding mound performance when he blanked the World Champion Tigers with two hits to gain a 7 to 0 triumph.

Hoiles, Curry Lose

Thompson gained the final round by eliminating R. C. Hoiles, 5 and 4, and Korff, aided by a 36 on the first nine, defeated Elmer Curry, 6 and 5, in semi-finals over the week-end.

Survivors of the defeated flight of President's cup competition were Harry Olson who won from Dr. C. E. Olewiler, 1 up on 19th hole; L. W. Bemis, who defeated George Osterman, 1 up; Hugh Shields, who won from J. W. Means, 3 and 2; and Bob Miller, who defeated J. E. Liebig, 3 and 2.

Win Pro-Amateur

Young Curry and Roy Renwick, Santa Ana Country club professional, shot a sparkling 65 to win pro-amateur play yesterday. Most of the professionals were from Long Beach. Don Kennedy, amateur, and Harry Bassler, pro, were second with a 67. Mark Lacy, amateur, and Art Rigby, pro, carded a 68, the same as J. W. Robinson, amateur, and Clark Siers, pro.

New Bassler, brother of Harry, annexed the pro sweepstakes with a card of 74-4-70. Larry Gleason shot a 72 and Santa Ana's Renwick a 73.

There will be a flag tournament at the club Memorial day.

So far it looks like a very good thing for the waning prestige of the Eastern colleges that the big three of California—Southern California, Stanford and the University of California—decided to remain at home this week. That trio has dominated the intercollegiate A. A. A. meet for a dozen years, and could be expected to triumph again this year if they hadn't scheduled the coast title meet for Friday and Saturday, when the I. C. 4-A meet will be held at Philadelphia.

The Western conference met last week-end produced no fewer than 100 athletes whose feats entitled them to consideration as Olympic material.

RUBINOFF ON AIR WAVES TONIGHT

A rare treat is in store for KVOE listeners at 7 o'clock tonight when Rubinoff will play his own composition, "The Dance of the Russian Peasants," on the "Musical Moments" program. During the same program, Virginia Rea, coloratura soprano, will sing the well known "Lauterbach." Rubinoff's orchestra will play "Let Yourself Go" from "Follow the Fleet," and an individualistic Rubinoff arrangement of "Goody-Goody."

Just preceding "Musical Moment," a feature program at 6:45 will present a group of band marches by well known composers of band music including Sousa.

Foot Program
At 7:45, the "Rhythm of Healthy Feet" presentation will include, in addition to a popular rhythm program, an easily understandable discussion of the scientific methods used nowadays in obtaining foot comfort.

"Calling All Cars!" the feature which many listeners anticipate with much eagerness every Monday at 7:30, will re-create the true story of "The Triple Cross," the story of the unshakable love of a woman for "her man." The factual dramatization is based on an actual case that had its beginnings in 1932.

Sons of Pioneers
Popular dance rhythm will be programmed at 8 o'clock, and the Sons of the Pioneers at 8:30 will offer more of the definitely popular favorite songs of the past and present.

There will be no adult education broadcast at 5:30 this evening, but Mrs. Golden Weston, director of the adult education department, Santa Ana city schools, will be heard tomorrow evening at 5:30 and will discuss educational opportunities offered in California. Wednesday will bring a special broadcast at the same hour, and Thursday with the historical California series will conclude the adult education broadcasts from this station for this season. It is expected, however, that the historical broadcasts, scheduled Thursdays at 5:30, will continue throughout the summer.

STATE REPUBLICANS SLATE TOLD HOOVER WILL BE 'RECOGNIZED'

44 DELEGATES ORGANIZE AT DEL MONTE

Former President Will Be 'Outstanding' at The Convention

DEL MONTE, May 25. (P)—California's uninstructed Republican delegation awaited the call to Cleveland today, assured that former President Herbert Hoover will figure as a prominent personality at the national convention.

The 44-member delegation, which completed organization here yesterday and elected Earl Warren national committeeman, accepted assurances that Hoover will be consulted frequently by its leaders.

Honor 'Too Small'
Hoover, not a member of the delegation, was proposed for an honorary place on the platform committee, but motion was withdrawn in response to protests that the honor would be "too small."

S. F. B. Morse of Pebble Beach, supported by Cecil B. DeMille, Los Angeles motion picture executive, termed the proposed honorary position "fitting" and declared Hoover would be recognized as an outstanding personality by the convention.

John G. Mott, Los Angeles attorney, who had made the motion, then withdrew it.

Start From U. S.
The delegation re-elected Mrs. Edith Van de Water, Long Beach, national committeewoman, and agreed to start the trip to Cleveland from Los Angeles, instead of San Francisco, June 5.

Chester Rowell, San Francisco, was named delegation chairman and ex-officio member of the platform committee, composed of Edward S. Shattuck, Los Angeles; Philip Bancroft, Walnut Creek; Dr. Walter H. Boyd, Long Beach, and Ruth Comfort Mitchell Young, Los Gatos.

Warren, Alameda county district attorney, Republican chairman and nominal head of the uninstructed slate in the presidential primary, will succeed Mark L. Regua as national committeeman after the national convention.

Regua, who attended the meeting, commended the delegates on their unanimous election of Warren.

The Nominees
The delegation voted to nominate the following for California's places on the national convention committees:

Arthur B. Dunne, San Francisco, credentials; Albert A. Rosenshine, San Francisco, rules; Mrs. Young, permanent organization; Shattuck, resolutions; William M. Garland, Los Angeles, notification of the vice presidential nomination.

Sherrill Halbert, Porterville, was named vice chairman of the delegation; Richard W. Barrett, San Francisco, secretary; Robert P. Craig, Los Angeles, assistant secretary; Thomas C. Meagher, San Francisco, custodian of funds; and Leo Anderson, Pasadena, sergeant-at-arms.

2 HUGE RAIL RIFLES WILL BE TESTED

Monster Guns, Unfired for 8 Years, to Get Workout on Coast

LOS ANGELES, May 25. (P)—The only modern shore railway rifles in the United States, two 14-inch monsters, each twice as heavy as a locomotive, will be taken from the harbor defenses here next month to a site near San Diego for army artillery exercises of a rare nature.

Neither has been fired in eight years. They use about 500 pounds of gunpowder to throw a projectile 23 miles, far below the horizon-curve of the earth, with enough force to pierce steel armor-plate, army officers said.

Practice June 12 and 15

The gunnery practice, scheduled for June 12 and 15, will be under the direction of Lieut. Col. Homer R. Oldfield, commanding the harbor defenses of Los Angeles, and the 63rd Coast Artillery anti-aircraft regiment at Fort MacArthur. He said the work will be for the dual purpose of obtaining data on the little-used guns, and training officers of the 604th Coast Artillery reserves of San Francisco.

"Owing to the hazards of high explosives, and limitation of parking space, the public cannot be allowed near the guns," Lieut. Col. Oldfield said. "A vantage point for spectators to see the splashes will be along the coast south of Oceanview."

The guns will be fired from Don, 40 miles north of San Diego.

Transporting Problem

About 100 officers and men will accompany the train. On gondola cars next the big gun, anti-aircraft rifles will be mounted fully manned and ready for action.

The transportation of the unit is itself a serious engineering problem.

LAGUNAN WINS FELLOWSHIP

Melville H. Walker of Laguna Beach Saturday was named winner of the William Harrison Mills fellowship in international relations, from the University of California. Mr. Walker was one of the graduating class of 3007 which was given diplomas Saturday.

His fellowship was one of 73 special awards, representing $44,872, which were given in connection with the baccalaureate services.

Specially constructed railway trucks carry the giants, each equipped with 14 pairs of axles, putting 28 wheels under each gun. Empty flat cars will be used to spread the weight, to protect railway bridges. Other cars will carry ammunition and equipment.

Lieut. Col. Oldfield said the guns were brought to California after the World War. One was fired about eight years ago. The other has not been used in an even longer time. There are two others like them at the Panama Canal zone, he said.

Ten-year-old Bernard Neumann, found unconscious from an anesthetic in an auto court cabin, is expected to recover, physicians said.

Planned Other Deaths

With the same fumes, Mrs. Neumann told Detective Captain John Kane, she had intended to kill her daughter, Eleanor, 13, and herself last night.

Grief over her husband's death in Los Angeles six months ago and fear that her death from heart disease was imminent led Mrs. Neumann's decision to wipe out the family, Kane said.

Young Bernard, sprawled inertly on a bed, was discovered by a neighbor woman, Mrs. George C. Forman. His best clothes were laid out carefully and a note on the table was addressed to a mortuary.

"Please take care of our cremation," it read. "Put our ashes in a good place under a tree."

Pinned to it was a $1000 check. The family came to America from Germany 11 years ago, Mrs. Neumann related after patrolmen found her in a beer parlor. Following her husband's death, she tried to manage his small factory, but lost it and some motion picture projector patents he owned, she said.

++ County Landmarks ++ San Clemente Built on Old Rancho Desecho, Once Owned by Forster

(In an effort to acquaint residents of Orange county with some of their most-prized historic possessions, The Journal is publishing a series of daily articles on county landmarks. Today's article tells about San Clemente location.—Editor.)

San Clemente is built on land formerly owned by Don Juan Forster, famous in San Juan Capistrano history. The property was known as Rancho Desecho, and later was owned by Don Marco Forster, who gained it through inheritance from his father. Don Juan Forster bought the rancho from Felipe Carrillo, to whom it originally was granted.

The rancho is near another rancho, Boca de la Playa, one and one-half leagues in size, which was granted to Emigdio Vejar in 1846. This property lies southeast of San Juan creek, its southeastern boundary being the arroyo known as Segundo Desecho.

"This originally was the north limit of San Clemente," says the Pleasants history of Orange county. "Vejar sold to Pablo Pryor, a son-in-law of Juan Avila. This sale was made in the '50's. Pablo Pryor died in 1878, and in the '80's, before the boom, his heirs sold to Marco Forster."

"Don Marco owned the land also to the south of the Santa Margarita boundary and the San Neumann related after patrolmen found her in a beer parlor. Following her husband's death, she tried to manage his small factory, but lost it and some motion picture projector patents he owned, she said.

Diego county line, but it had not been confirmed a Mexican grant. Below the Boca de la Playa boundary the land had been granted to Felipe Carrillo, but he did not claim it before the land commission. He sold it to Don Juan Forster, who covered it with scrip and got his title that way. It was finally purchased by Ole Hanson for his Spanish village—San Clemente."

What Is This Modern?

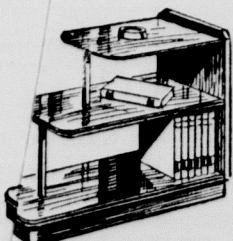

Modern is trend in home furnishing—which is much misunderstood. Some people think of it as frightful expensive.

Others think of modern in terms of modernistic art and decide that it must be queer in design, embellished with the wildest color schemes.

Modern represents furnishings brought up to date in design, comfort and all around livability. You will find modern styled and priced as it should be at Chandler's.

Real modern design is not exotic and it occupies the same place in today's scheme as your Frigidaire, radio or your automobile.

Mary Stoddard So-Called "Other Woman" Often Merely Doing Careless Wife's Duties

By MARY STODDARD

Comes some more inside information on the "eternal triangle."

This time, it is a happy wife, or least a spouse who is making a success out of her matrimonial venture, who speaks. All of the husbands who "kick over the traces" aren't natural born philanderers—then why do they go astray?

Election Draws Interest of O.C. Women

Attention of Orange county women was attracted Saturday to Fresno, where two locally known women were elected to official positions at the state convention of the A. A. U. W.

Mrs. Frank C. Swain, Whittier, was named president of the American Association of University Women of California. She succeeds Mrs. E. L. Bennett, Fresno. Other officers chosen were Mrs. Robert Gray, Whittier, corresponding secretary, and Miss Mary Louise Erenman, Stockton, recording secretary. Mrs. Swain and Mrs. Gray have a host of friends in Orange county.

Opposing repeal of the state sales tax or any change in the present teachers' tenure act, and favoring the establishment of world peace and an embargo on war materials, delegates to the convention adopted positive resolutions.

The association reaffirmed its belief in adequate, free public education as a vehicle for social evolution and the maintenance of democracy. The resolution urged members to support measures designed to maintain public education on a high level and be alert to oppose bills which would cut at the roots of public schools through curtailment of support, or an unwieldy limitation of the authority of boards of education. Other resolutions reaffirmed the belief in adult instruction and in the principle of tenure for California teachers.

APPETITE FOR STEEL PUTS STOCK UP

Scattered Specialties
Also Gain During Quiet Trading

By VICTOR EUBANK
NEW YORK, May 25. (AP)—Stock market traders had an appetite for scattered steels and industrial specialties today, but neglected many other issues.

As in the first week or so, the general run of news, while viewed as constructive, failed to bring out any exceptional amount of buying. Quiet dealings were the rule after a moderately active opening.

Gainers of one to around two points, near the start of the fourth hour, included J. I. Case, American Type Founders, American Bank Note, Sears Roebuck, and Westinghouse.

Lesser advances were shown by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, International Harvester, Du Pont, Electric Power and Light, Santa Fe and Great Northern. A large volume of Great Northern "rights" were turned over at a slight improvement.

Down a point or so were Greyhound Corp., U. S. Smelting and Cerro de Pasco.

Some selling in Greyhound was attributed to growing competition which the bus companies are facing with the reduction of rail rates.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, May 25. (AP)—The attention of the stock market today was centered on industrial specialties, a number of which were pushed up fractions to around two points.

At the same time many other sections of the list were neglected, and there were sufficient soft spots in evidence to bring a moderately irregular close. Transfers approximated 100,000 shares. Closing prices:

LARGE CROWD HEARS LAST SYMPHONY

By FRIEDA G. ROWLAND
Santa Ana's symphony orchestra, under the baton of Elwood Bear, ended its concert season with a well-balanced program in the Methodist church last evening.

A large, responsive audience enjoyed the varied program, and the featured baritone soloist, Charles Ross.

Mr. Ross' rich voice was well adapted to the group of songs he sang, "It Is Enough" from Mendelssohn's "Elijah"; "No body Knows the Trouble I've Seen," by Clarence Cameron White; and "Deep River."

Director Bear opened the concert with the introduction to the first movement of the great Schubert's "C Major Symphony." The main theme was announced by the organ, and the orchestra was skillfully united in bringing out the strong dynamic contrasts of the movement.

Particularly thrilling was the long, gradual crescendo and mighty climax in the prelude to Wagner's "Lohengrin." It began

A Snake Needs Scotching

THE shocking private "execution" of a WPA worker reveals that Detroit, once home of the notorious Purple Gang, is now headquarters for a vastly more dangerous undercover organization, the Black Legion. Sixteen men, arrested as suspects in the "execution," are said to have confessed that the secret society has a membership of 10,000 and has terrorized scores of dwellers in the automobile capital.

There is not much difference, in our opinion, between the handful of professional criminals who made up the Purple Gang and the horde of vicious morons who have enrolled in the Black Legion with its program of secret murder and violence.

Both are cowardly enemies of law and order and of free American institutions. Both are foes of the rights which were written into the Constitution 150 years ago. And both set up undercover despots—with the Purple Gang confiscating property—and the Black Legion taking human life and happiness.

It is essential that the distinction be pointed out between the activities of secret terrorists like the Black Legion and those of vigilante groups formed by plain, honest citizens to enforce justice where legal machinery is ineffective. Vigilantes usually take the law into their hands in order to preserve fundamental equity in human relationships. But secret terrorists perform their outrages in defiance of all that is good, true and worthy of preservation in our chaotic civilization.

Sometimes these poisonous groups spread like cancer, overthrowing established governments and setting up their own chieftains as national dictators. History records many of such cases. There are examples of it, to some extent, in the procedure followed by revolutionists in Russia, Germany and Italy in the past two decades. All three dictatorships were accomplished primarily through the agency of secret societies who practiced terrorism, confiscation of property, suppression of liberty, and bloodshed—in varying degrees.

There are today some men who would like to set up a personal dictatorship in the United States. For them, such organizations as the Black Legion are effective tools.

The way to blot out the Black Legion is to jail its members for the crimes they are committing in the Detroit reign of terror. The time to blot it out is now.

Two Michigan editors who punched each other made a written statement saying, "Editors should settle their differences with their fists." Why not hatchets?

It's A Long Time

FOUR hundred thousand years ago strange prehistoric horses roamed this region, scientists declare following an important discovery of fossil bones in the north part of the county.

It's hard to visualize the enormous stretch of time that has elapsed since the earth once echoed to the hoofs of those prehistoric steeds. Imagine a set of 1,000 history books, each with 400 pages, and each page representing 1,000 years. The story of those horses would be written on page one of volume one. But that of our culture since the days of William the Conqueror, who invaded England in 1066, would take only the last page of the last volume.

The world progresses. Perhaps 400,000 years from now—in the year 401,936 A. D.—intelligent beings who inhabit this whirling planet will find the remains and records of 20th century life. Wonder what they'll think of our suicidal wars, our primitive attempts at science, and the general economic, political, and social disorder in which we live?

National City Bank of New York and another New York bank are reported having reduced the interest rate on personal loans to 4 per cent. Maybe some bank in California will hear about that.

Too Hot for Them?

LIKE the boy who grabbed the wrong end of a hot poker, Congress apparently has burned its fingers badly by indulging in a clownish persecution of Dr. Townsend instead of a dignified investigation of the $200-a-month pension plan.

As a result of the Doctor's walkout, the legislators do not seem to know whether to have the founder of the OARP haled up on contempt charges, or to drop the subject.

Either way they deservedly lose. If they arrest the Long Beach medico, they'll forfeit the remainder of the respect and support of thousands of Townsend followers. And if they back down, they'll confess by their supine behaviour that they are a bunch of spineless politicians who cringe like curs under the lash of any organized minority.

A Shrinking Ocean

THE mighty Pacific—for years the greatest water barrier to ambitious man—takes on the aspect of a mere pond as a Japanese aviation company reveals plans for a five-day dirigible route between Tokio and Vancouver.

With the China Clipper zooming from San Francisco to Manila, and other daring transoceanic plans under study—it might not be many years before you can board an air liner at Newport Harbor and take off for any spot on the globe.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Diary: Betimes and with my lady and her cousin Josephine to the pier to greet Daniel Dreyfus from Paris and to the Waldorf where I had a chess game. Thence to a tinkerer who installed a radio in the car and driving Minnie Vesey to Forest Hills and carried her to the seashore.

Home and a telegram from Lee Olwell he was flying over Gallipoli, and a note from Fannie Hurst who always makes comic faces out of my initial O's. And Gene Crawley and Amor, Carter popped by full of caper. So fashioning a magazine piece about the rigors of columning.

To Conde Nast's dinner to the Grantland Rice. Later by Dick Berlin's to see Helen Young and walking home a flirtatious lady hailed "Hello Sugar," which made me feel a mite silly. To bed reading Edith Wharton's latest volume, "The World Over."

Kate Smith topped—I'm beginning to loath that word top—all the individual efforts for funds in the recent Red Cross drive. Through radio and personal appearances she was able to turn over to the Red Cross more than a million. Few know the philanthropic side of the singer. Most of her available time is devoted to charity and it is conceded no one in professional life has more power to inspire donations than she. Sometimes a hundred or more telegraphic money orders arrive before she has quit speaking. Her private life has always been taken as a model in the radio world.

Probably no adornment on Fifth avenue has been written about so widely as the boxes of window flowers gracing the Helen Gould brownstone front at Forty-eighth street. Several poets have even been inspired to spring sonnets by the annual bloom. Sometimes it is geraniums, sometimes pansies and this summer azaleas. The boxes are not particularly conspicuous, yet somehow the homey touch appeals to the rock-ribbed metropolitan imagination. Too, the Gould mansion is among the last of the half dozen private residences bucking the commercial sweep northward.

Personal nomination for the east-going informality among the radio masters of ceremony—that of Bing Crosby.

Gramercy Park, which many sentimentalists claim is the only place left in New York to wander and dream, is in a dither over the swerving of buses into the peaceful park. The residents want to retain its serenity. Gramercy's chief tug is in that wavering hour of its sitting dusk. Even life itself seems suddenly suspended. Pipe smokers and their dogs merely inch along and young lovers stand close, silent and worshipful under the spread of whispering elms. Now and then a taxi darts up to leave a Gelett Burgess or an Isaac Marcossan at the portals of The Players, but that seems the only activity.

Sign in a Harlem hot-chai restaurant: "Joe Louis steaks. Beat up like Max Baer—39 cents."

Nightclubbers who expected to see another hot-tanale version of the shrieking Lupe Velez in the engagement of Celia Velez, billed as the daughter of the Mexican bandit, Pancho, were disappointed. The young singer had the reserve of the convent bred and a soft, melodious voice of extreme culture. Another Cafe Chanteuse is a girl bull fighter. She was a sort of Louisa May Alcott type.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Exactly what took place in the supreme court during the 68 days of secret deliberation on the Guffey coal case, of course no one but the nine justices knows.

But attorneys who followed this case there is considerable external evidence of what happened behind the scenes before the three opinions in the Guffey case saw the light of day. This is what they think it was:

At the start the court apparently split 3-3-3. That is, three justices wanted to hold the law valid, three to rule it out entirely, and three to invalidate the labor sections, but approve the private control provisions. The last was the position taken by Chief Justice Hughes in his individual opinion.

But a 3-3-3 division would have stalemated the case and allowed the divergent lower court decisions to remain in force. It would have created widespread confusion and chaos. In Kentucky, for example, a federal court had thrown out the entire law. But in the District of Columbia only the labor provision had been ruled out.

Perhaps even more important, the prestige of the court was at stake. A deadlock would have played directly into the hands of its critics, who claim that the justices' economic and political views, not law, determine their rulings.

So, according to the analysts, they accused some horse trading among the six justices who favored some kind of decree against the act.

The three justices who wanted to toss out the entire law proposed tempering their stand, to rule. Another Cafe Chanteuse is a girl bull fighter. She was a sort of Louisa May Alcott type.

By this concession, two of the three justices who favored the price fixing features presumably were induced to go along with the three die-hards.

In confirmation of this theory the legalists cite three points: First—Justice Sutherland's majority opinion shows signs of being a "patchwork" decision; that is, more than one pen had a hand in writing it.

Second—Sutherland, in one portion of his opinion, says specifically that he will pass on the constitutionality of the price-fixing sections later in his decision. Yet when he finally reaches this part of the law he withholds final judgment, saying, "The price-fixing provisions of the code are thus disposed of without coming to the question of their constitutionality."

Finally, the great length of time it took the court to act upon the case—68 days—one of the longest periods of chamber debate in recent court history.

SOMERSAULT

During the house debate on the Frazier-Lemke inflation bill, Tom Blanton, strident-voiced congressman from the Texas panhandle, was discussing the measure with a group of colleagues in the Democratic cloakroom.

"I signed the petition to force the bill out of committee," Blanton said. "But I am not going to vote for it. It's a dishonest bill. It'll bankrupt the country. I'd rather be defeated than vote for such a dangerous measure."

Twenty-Five Years Ago

MAY 25, 1911

Among the pleasant first-of-the-week functions was the first of a series of dinners given by Mrs. Addie Collins on French street. The guests who enjoyed the appetizing meal and the games of progressive whist which followed, were Messrs. and Mesdames C. V. Davis, E. B. Burns, C. M. Jordan, and Miss Stevenson of Texas.

A pleasant dinner party was that enjoyed last evening, when Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Dawes were hosts to the teachers, under whose supervision their three bright children are students at school. Besides the family, covers were laid for Mrs. Gertrude Finley, and Masters Hinkston, Snare, Steward, Havens, Waterman, Andrews and Willard.

The Congregational Missionary Society held a very interesting meeting yesterday afternoon with Mrs. W. A. Bartlett, the leader being Mrs. N. A. Beals, ably assisted by Mesdames A. B. Gardner, C. F. Crose and Harry A. Terwilliger, and the Misses Ada Obrien and Celia Cotter. At the business meeting the following officers were elected for the coming term: Mrs. Anna M. Pendleton, Mrs. C. H. Seconm, Mrs. C. F. Crose, Mrs. E. M. Nealey, Mrs. W. B. Weatherbee, Mrs. C. S. Crookshank, and Mrs. W. B. Tedford.

The sewing club, of which Mrs. Jabe S. Hill is a member, gathered yesterday at her home to spend a few pleasant hours in needlework. The home was brightened with sweet peas and carnations, and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. All the members, a round dozen, were present.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Yes, Them Was the Days! But Kids Still Have Fun

A FANCY swimming pool, gleaming tile, glistening porcelain, splash-proof walls, warm water in ceaseless flow, fool-proof spring-board, water depth carefully graduated inch by inch, dressing-rooms at hand, lifeguard on duty. No danger, no chill, no mud, no soggy clothing, no chance to bruise a foot. Merely pay your money, enjoy the service, flop around with other quivering creatures, climb up the stairs, use a towel, and the old garments and call it a day.

The old swimming hole—ever changing width and depth; sloshy, slimy banks; oozy bottom alive with crawling things, blood sucking crabs, snapping turtles; poison ivy and stinging nettles crowding to the water's edge; water cold from bubbling springs and churned to muddiness by scuffling feet; big boys picking on little boys; little boys ganging up on one big bully and holding him under until he strangled for mercy; crawling out to the clothes and never free of mud; clothes gone or tied in hopeless knots and some imp of Satan yelling, "Chaw, raw beef!" Ah, them was the days.

And the beautiful fish which helped to make a perfect day. From calling names to throwing mud was an easy path. Then followed sticks and stones, throwing a fellow's pants in the water, after filling them with rocks, and the whole fracas ending in a general free-for-all. This was democracy in the making, with the sissy who first cried "Enough!" ruled from the esteem of his compatriots.

In that day the art of swimming had much of trickery connected with it. Mothers were solicitous of their young hopefuls then as they are now, necessitating considerable scheming to be among the first to venture into the swimming hole with the first spring days. Between skating and swimming was a matter of a few days. Woe to the erring youngster who came home with his hair wet and signs of dampness on his undershirt. And, if required much ingenuity to eliminate these evidences in the pre-towel days.

Profound is the argument as to whether kids have more fun now than in those long-gone days. The fact seems to be that kids will have fun under any circumstances and at any time. The spirit of play is the spirit of youth and society must conserve and capitalize this precious resource.

WHAT MERRIAM OVER-LOOKED

(San Francisco Daily News)
Governor Merriam's solicitude for the age, as expressed by his endorsement of the Townsend old age pension plan, meets an acid test this week as he fails to include in his call for the special session of the legislature needed changes in the old age pension system that we already have.

The legislature decided in 1935 that needy old people meeting the strict requirements of the old age pension law of California should receive a minimum of $35 a month. Yet some counties pay nothing to their needy aged, while others take advantage of a loophole in the law to pay $20 a month.

Assemblyman Hornblower of San Francisco, author of the 1935 law liberalizing old age pensions, insists that California should take full advantage of the federal social security law by jacking up the delinquent counties through an amendment to the law requiring that counties meet the minimum already set by statute. At present, the law permits counties to give as little as they please.

Another amendment is needed to enable the state to secure its share of federal funds to help pay the pensions of the destitute blind.

OLD STORY; NEW SETTING

(Washington Daily News)
Helium gas is now used extensively in the treatment of asthma, but it costs around $20 to $30 a tank. Therefore, when the interior department appropriation bill was before the house, Rep. Lanham of Texas secured an amendment authorizing the bureau of mines to sell its supplies at cost, or around $5, to doctors and hospitals.

When the bill reached the senate, private helium interests of Kentucky got busy. Backed by Sen. Barkley they filed a protest asserting that such reduction of costs would injure their business. The senate committee threw out the Lanham amendment.

The Kentucky senator has a fine line of lungs which he uses for senatorial speech-making and for convention keynoting. It is to be hoped that asthma never afflicts his lungs to remind him of the suffering he might have prevented.

Remarkable Remarks

The Italian government has issued an insolent defiance to more than 50 nations and expects them to quail before its threats. Will the League of Nations, which is also the victim of Italian aggression, bow its head to violence?—Wolde Mariam, Ethiopian diplomat.

Talk about fake counts, we sure have our troubles with some good ones. Brother, there is only one king of the hoboes, and that's Jeff Davis.—Jeff Davis, self-styled hobo king.

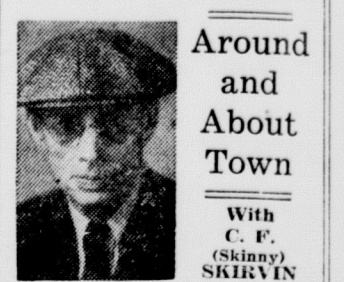

SCIENCE NEWS

Italy's war with Ethiopia has done the whole world some good. And in this manner, Italy used to have a world monopoly on citric acid. Her lemon crop was devoted almost entirely to manufacturing this item. But when she went to war, her lemons were shipped to the soldiers in Africa. When exports became restricted, experiments were started in England. It was found that the black mold which forms on fruits turns sugar into citric acid. As a result, a simple process for the manufacture of this acid has been evolved.

BRIGHT MOMENTS

LOUIS XIV of France, had been carried the news of his greatest general's defeat at Ramillies. Louis was horrified, and turning to one of his retainers, Chamfort, exclaimed in an angry voice: "God Almighty has forgotten all that, I have done for Him."

Flanders field was moved to Santa Ana Saturday and poppies flourished all over the city. They were eagerly sought by an approving public which availed itself of the opportunity to show its appreciation for the sacrifice which the poppy typified. Representatives of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars found ready purchasers for the poppies, the funds thus accumulated to go to the relief of those who sustained wounds which incapacitate them for self-sustenance. For what they did for us we are obligated to do something for them.

Occasionally you will meet some one who assumes an acquaintance ship is a license for insolence.

"Harpo" Kirkpatrick, attached to the Broadway theater, after stalling a case of appendectomy for several days, finally had to permit the surgeon to break through and appropriate the appendix. Manager Les Fountain informed the surgeon prior to the operation that some tickets had been missing from the box office and when he removed the appendix to make a search for the missing tickets. Which caused "Harpo" to recall that he occasionally picked his teeth with the stubs and it was possible that the missing tickets could be located.

I have been the recipient of a package of "healthful suggestions," in a cereal form. If the dietetic value is inside the box I'll be able to knock Joe Louis for a loop.

The Old Philosopher was in today to tell me that the only foundation that will stand the test of permanent recovery is the prosperity of the individual business. Governmental assistance is relieving a temporary depression, but it is like a shot in the arm, and not a permanent cure. Continued indefinitely, it will create a national dependency, instead of a rugged individual independence. Everybody wants prosperity to return, but they do not want it at the expense of individual responsibility. When regular business absorbs unemployment governmental projects can be discontinued.

Nixon Waterman, whose soul is saturated with poetic sympathy, sends me his verse, "A Rose to the Living." Nick, you almost waited too long. Thanks, however, for getting under the wire. If you got any more flowers you better send 'em along. I'm not feeling very good. My doctor says if I live 10 years more I'll be about 80. Now, do you suppose he found that out?

A complaint has been brought to my door about how this weed-cutting business on vacant lots is being accomplished. Complainant says he does not object to the removal of weeds, but when it is accomplished by fire instead of a scythe it is his opinion that the method is too severe for walnut trees which happen to be on the same lot with the weeds.

Patron disappointed over the failure of a slot machine to function after he had deposited his money resulted in the purchase of a padlock which the irate patron later locked onto the machine. There is an old moral appropriate to this incident: Locking the barn door after the horse had been stolen.

Thanks, fellows, for a pleasant week-end. No invitations to go fishing.

Those beautiful jacaranda trees diagonally west of the postoffice are again in bloom, and will soon spread a carpet of blue velvet across the street. The jacaranda is a large genus of tropical American bigonaceous tree with blue flowers. My trips to the postoffice are always more pleasant when the jacaranda is in bloom.

Hard boiled traffic cop and prominent rancher decided to use part of the afternoon witnessing a performance at the Broadway theater. Sections of the picture were devoted to pathos too strong for the h. b. t. c. and p. r. to resist, so under this sentimental and emotional pressure they collapsed and started to flow in small rivulets down florid cheeks, with occasional copious showers, until the situation might well have been misinterpreted for a bath. The incident brought the two old friends even closer together and they started to wipe the moisture from the corners of each other's eyes, while the performers continue their pathetic picture utterly unconscious of the affecting scene going on in the loges. It has been suggested as an economic and staid move, the moisture from many, and of course appropriate a handful of paper napkins. It will cut down the laundry bill. But, gosh, who hasn't surrendered to the melo-drama? I used to go to see "East Lynne," "The Homestead," and "Ten Nights in a Barroom," when one was too many, and contributed my share of ocular moisture as a sympathetic contribution to the performance.
